NEW MEANING
TRAINING

100% of our learners have SEMH difficulties so our skilled tutors adapt to their needs and individualise their programme. We work to break down the young person's barriers to engaging with learning and work through specific SEMH outcomes outlined in their EHCPs. Relationship building and gaining trust is a key part of the way we work whilst supporting the young person with their academic and vocational aims. Functional skills, Employability and preparation for adulthood are all built-in to help them make their next step to their destination.

Outreach Transition Support

Learners in this programme spend time with tutors in their homes and communities creating a positive pathway for reintegration back into a setting or onto their next destination. With small purposeful steps and the availability of rolling starts we successfully move young people forward. #transitionto

- ✓ A "transition to" programme... to further / higher education, to an NMT course, to a job, to an apprenticeship...
- ✓ Supporting SEMH outcomes for Emotionally Based School Avoidance (EBSA)
- ✓ Achievable mini steps to move onwards to centre-based learning or their next destination as soon as they're ready
- ✓ Rolling enrolment and progression
- ✓ Home/community outreach
- ✓ Bespoke support - light / moderate / intense
- ✓ Flexible hours

Centre-based Transition Support

We create different-looking spaces that feel safe and unlike mainstream settings. This supports the work we do to increase attendance and progress. Young people like coming to NMT and on average they double their attendance by the end of their first term. Programmes are 2.5 days per week.

BUCKS COUNCIL COMMENT:

"I'll always be pleased to refer young people to New Meaning Training. I love what they do. I would add they are flexible and accommodate the young people's needs. The pastoral care is a real strength. Staff are very good at communicating with parents/carers and professionals to ensure they are consistent in their approach, working together to secure the best outcomes for the young people."
